Why do horses need to see a farrier?

Horses hooves constantly grow like our finger nails.

A farrier's job is to trim a horses hoof to make sure they don't get too long or out of shape.

A farrier can also put shoe's on if the horse needs the extra support.

The farrier on average will need to visit a horse every 6-8 weeks. This may vary depending on the work a horse does or if there is an injury or lost shoe.
